

Frontier's Bio:

Frontier is a band from Kentucky whose unique sound has its roots in rock and roll. They perform originals from their albums, as well as classic rock and country covers of artists from the 1950's to the present. Band members include brothers and songwriters Ethan and Andrew Worley (vocals and guitar), their cousin Caleb Caudill (vocals and bass), and their friend Dave Grigsby (drums). With a sound that's reminiscent of The Eagles, John Mayer, and Alabama, Frontier weaves the timeless style of classic rock and roll with their own unique touches and powerful harmonies to create a sound that's unforgettable.

Frontier has released two albums, "Longer Roads" and "This Dream." Their first album "Longer Roads" was recorded in 2014 by Randy Hayes, former lead guitarist for Keith Whitley. Their second album "This Dream" was released in 2016. For this project, they worked with Jef Powell, a multi-Platinum award winning engineer and producer who has worked with notable artists, including OAR, John Mayer, Sheryl Crow, and The Fray. Both albums are a collection of heartfelt, relatable songs that showcase the band members' skill as songwriters and musicians.

Frontier's unique sound has earned them multiple awards and recognition in the music industry. In 2015, Frontier was chosen to perform at the Kentucky Music Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony, where they shared the stage with Montgomery Gentry, Larry Cordle, Kevin Richardson and Brian Littrell of the Back Street Boys, and many other great artists. In 2016, they won a trophy at the Country Music Showdown in Campbellsville, KY. They also won first place at the 10th Annual Don Marshall Lake Cumberland Battle of the Bands, as well as individual awards for Audience Favorite, Guitarist of the Year, Accompanist of the Year, and Vocalist of the Year. Andrew's original song "Love Is on Your Side" received world-wide recognition in June 2016 by SongwriterUniverse. Their original "Come on In" topped the Balcony TV charts at #1 in the world. Frontier was also featured in the February 2016 edition of the European music magazine "Fair Play Country Music." In 2017, Frontier performed at the Master Musicians Festival along with Blackberry Smoke, Dawes, The Old 97s and many other amazing artists. They also received five nominations for the 2017 Josie Music Awards, which were held at the Nissan Stadium in Nashville, TN. They were nominated for Multi-Genre Artist and Vocal Group of the year, and they received three nominations for Song of the Year in the Pop/Contemporary, Americana/Folk, and Contemporary Rock categories.

In addition to performing at traditional music venues, Frontier spends a lot of time on the road performing at a variety of events including festivals, fairs, summer concert series, and corporate events. They have appeared several times on KET television programs and have opened for acts such as Restless Heart and Exile at festivals and events throughout the region. Whether they are performing original songs or covers of classic rock or country artists, their shows provide fun, family-friendly entertainment that all ages enjoy.

Frontier's music is available for download and streaming at all the usual distribution sites. Physical copies are available at their shows.
